ORDER:

In the letter first read above, the Chief Executive Officer, Andhra Pradesh Livestock Development Agency, Hyderabad has informed that the office of the District Livestock Development Association, Warangal was allotted 775 sq. yards of land in the year 2000. The said Unit is presently supplying Liquid Nitrogen and Frozen Semen to 240 Departmental Artificial Insemination Centers and 77 Gopalamitra Centers. The number of Gopalamitra Centers is going to be crossed 100 by this financial year ending to improve the economic status of rural farmers, providing quality breeding services. For this noble cause, there is a need of installing one more L.N. Bulk Tanker of 3,000 Lts. capacity in addition to the present 3,000 liters vertical tanker. As per the Indian Explosives Rules, there should not be any structures within the limits of 5 meters radius of the L.N. storage tanker. The present office of the District Livestock Development Association, Warangal is also in a dilapidated condition and a new building along with stores and training hall for Gopalamitra orientation training has to be constructed. He has further informed that the Veterinary Poly Clinic/ Joint Director (AH) complex of Warangal is having about 5 acres of land under the control of Director of Animal Husbandry. It is understood that 2 acres of land is proposed to be allotted to Veterinary Poly Clinic which had been transferred to Sri Venkateswara Veterinary University. Another 3 acres of land is under the possession of the Joint Director (AH), Warangal. Keeping in view the needs of District Livestock Development Association, Warangal, the Executive Committee of APLDA in its 34th meeting held on 24.9.2009 has resolved to request the Government to allot one acre of land to D.L.D.A., Warangal. Hence the Chief Executive Officer, A.P. Livestock Development Agency has requested for allotment of one acre of land belonging to Veterinary Poly Clinic, Warangal, available at the west side in favour of the District Livestock Development Association, Warangal for expansion of its activities.

2. The Director of Animal Husbandry in his letter second read above has informed that a half acre of land available at open place on the West side behind the present O/o. Joint Director (AH), Warangal may be allotted to District Livestock Development Association, Warangal for expansion of its activities.

3. In the above circumstances and after detailed examination of the matter, Government hereby accord permission to the Director of Animal Husbandry to allot a half acre of land belonging to Veterinary Poly Clinic, Warangal, available at the open place on the West side, behind the present office of the Joint Director (AH), Warangal in favour of the District Livestock Development Association, Warangal for expansion of its activities.

4. The Director of Animal Husbandry shall take further necessary action accordingly.
